Dear Families,

We have an exciting week ahead as we celebrate Catholic Schools next week and take part in many fun activities. The theme of Catholic Schools week this year is Faith, Excellence, and Service. Our service will be to those friends and family members who are struggling with cancer. The dress code consisting of brightly colored clothing is meant to acknowledge each type of the disease. We will rely on our faith as we pray at the end of each day for our friends and families and as always the students will continue to be excellent students.

Please continue to have your child bring a mask to school each day. With your help we have been able to remain in school until this week and hope to come back strong and healthy next week. Even though all are wearing a mask we know they are smiling just by looking at their eyes and we can't wait to hear their laughter in the halls again.

Have a great weekend!

“Catholic schools prepare every student to meet the challenges of their future by developing their mind, yes, but also their body and their soul and spirit

-David Vitter

Please remember to send snow gear with your child—snow pants, hats, boots, and mittens—it would even be helpful to send TWO pairs of mittens as they get very wet from the snow. The students go outside EVERYDAY unless it is below zero.

A mask is required when entering the school building and on the bus. Please provide your child with a mask EVERYDAY. There is not a supply of masks to provide to students on a daily basis. Thank you!
