Dear OLQH Families,

As we progress further into the school year, I want to remind you of the critical role good attendance plays in your child's success. Did you know that every day a student is absent represents a missed opportunity for learning? Excessive absences not only impact the achievement of the student who is missing but can also disrupt the learning environment for the entire class.

Here's how you can help ensure your child's regular attendance:

- Set a consistent bedtime and morning routine to help your child start each day smoothly.
- Lay out clothes and pack backpacks the night before to reduce morning stress.
- Avoid scheduling vacations during the school year whenever possible.
- Discuss the importance of attending school regularly and check in with your child about how they feel about school.
- If your child is feeling anxious about going to school, reach out to their teachers, school counselors, or other parents for support and strategies to make school a positive experience.
- Schedule medical appointments outside of school hours whenever possible.
- Only keep your child home if they are truly ill. Use a thermometer to check for fever, and remember that complaints like stomach aches or headaches could be linked to anxiety rather than illness.
- Have a back-up plan in case unexpected situations arise. Ask a family member, neighbor, or another parent for help if needed.

Thank you for all that you do to support your child's success and well-being, as well as the success of our school community.

Wishing you a weekend filled with God's love, joy, and happiness.

What's Jammin' in Gym?

October 2024 Edition

It is hard to believe we have started Hex 2 already. The students have been learning the importance of following directions, trying their best, being respectful and promoting teamwork. Ask your students to tell you about St. Sebastian, and have your student recite the St. Sebastian prayer, as this is the prayer we recite before the start of each physical education class. At the end of physical education class we all take part in a Good-bye Candace, as a reminder that we are all athletes and put forth our best effort in class.

We have been having a lot of fun when the Riverkings join us for class, the team brings an exciting twist to class. The students have been engaged in a wide variety of activities to show the importance of physical activity and teamwork.

During the month of September, the students had fun with different games promoting their locomotor skills. October, brings out the ghosts, ghouls, and witches....even in physical education class. Ask your student to tell you about their favorite Halloween physical education game. The students have been playing Ghostbuster Bowling, Witches Broomstick Tag, The Haunted House, along with other energetic Halloween games.

At the end of every physical education class, the students must assess their class to determine how they all did as a class. For every ten punches earned, the class receives a free choice day in physical education class. This is to promote working as a team, sportsmanship, following directions, being kind, and listening skills.

May you all have a wonderful Halloween, and may you all receive more treats than tricks.

A message from Mrs. E.....

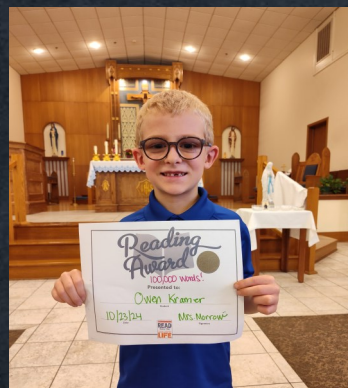

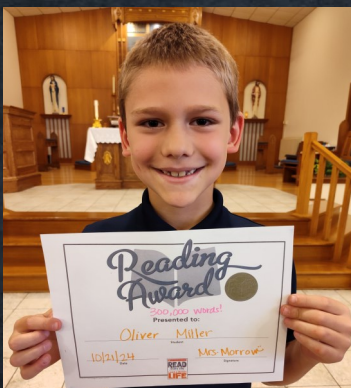

A special thank you to all of my Physical Education teachers for a day, Aubrey, Cole, Breck, Cashton, Riann, Cody, and Jadelyn, you all worked extremely hard and showed your Royal Pride.
